PROJECTS

Medical-billing-system

Nov 2024 - Dec 2024

• Data Entry:

A healthcare provider enters patient details and selected procedures into the system, which automatically retrieves relevant billing codes from the SQL database.

• Billing Calculation:

Python logic calculates patient charges based on procedure codes and insurance plan rules, determining patient responsibility and insurance claim amounts.

• Claim Generation:

The system generates an electronic claim file in the required format, including patient information, diagnoses, procedure codes, and billing charges.

• Submission:

- The generated claim is electronically submitted to the insurance company through a secure portal.
